The Occupational Safety & Health Amendment Act (A1648), effective 1 June 2024, brings significant changes to workplace safety regulations in Malaysia. This comprehensive training course equips participants with the knowledge and skills needed to navigate these new requirements successfully, ensuring compliance and fostering a culture of safety within their organisations.

Our programme covers the expanded scope of the amendment, which now encompasses all economic sectors, including the public sector and non-industrial workplaces. Participants will learn about the strengthened duties of employers, including the explicit requirement to conduct risk assessments and implement necessary control measures.

The course emphasises the importance of proactive hazard identification and mitigation, aligning with the Department of Occupational Safety and Health's (DOSH) Guidelines for Hazard Identification, Risk Assessment and Risk Control (HIRARC).

Key focus areas of the course include:

- Appointment of safety and health coordinators for organisations with five or more employees
- Development and implementation of emergency procedures
- Creation and management of a Safety & Health Committee
- Implementation of the HIRARC Guidelines
- Fostering a positive safety culture within the organisation

By the end of the programme, attendees will have the confidence and competence to implement these new regulations effectively, ensuring compliance and fostering a safer work environment for all and positioning their businesses for long-term success and sustainability in the evolving regulatory landscape of Malaysia.
